

Patty Vo is a U.S. Open Champion and UCWDC World Champion. She began dancing at a local bar and soon after transitioned into competitive dancing and never looked back. She has gone on to win several Showcase Division and Champion Strictly and Jack and Jills. As a world-renowned dancer, she is regarded as one of the top technicians in the world focusing on connection, centering, footwork, and body mechanic. She is also, one of only a handful of single females to teach on her own at major Swing events around the Globe and has the pleasure of sharing that knowledge with dancers of all levels.

Teacher, coach, and choreographer who travels the globe most weekends, she still enjoys sharing her love of the dance and inspiring dancers with her fun and graceful style. When she's not judging or teaching, you can always find her out on the social dance floor.
